Teacher Led Development Work (TLDW)

An accredited programme suitable for all those involved in the education and care of children and young people in maintained and non-maintained settings. This transformational programme supports all educators no matter what their role or job title to improve the quality of teaching and learning by leading innovation and development work.

What does the programme involve?

- 7 school-based 'twilight' sessions over the year to be held at The Nobel School
- Annual Conference
- Regional Network events
- Regular tutorials with tutor
- Opportunities to visit other settings

Participants assemble a portfolio of evidence of participation and an account of their development work which leads to the award of the HertsCam Certificate in Teacher Leadership.

What is HertsCam?

We are an independent charity (reg no 8337179) governed by teachers and headteachers through a Steering Committee. Our MEd and TLDW programmes and events are organised and led by teachers.

Being part of the NHTA growing professional network

What happens in sessions?

- practical tasks
- structured discussions
- tools and information to help you plan, initiate and lead change in your setting
- opportunities to reflect on teaching and learning
- opportunities to exchange ideas, build knowledge and collaborate with others

“I have realised that anyone who is a learner can be a leader.”

“TLDW has honestly been the best thing that has happened to my career...it's really built my confidence. “

What happens at network events?

- sharing accounts of projects
- cross-setting collaboration
- cross-phase collaboration
- building professional knowledge

Cost £400 per delegate
